

AGENDA

Jul 15—Jul 31

SWEET IDOLINE

Vermont-based artist Idoline Duke describes her lush, gorgeous canvases as “clearly inspired by the ocean and natural beauty of the South Fork, where I grew up and continue to spend my summers.” Duke further credits her aesthetic to a creative family that has always been active in music, filmmaking, printmaking and design (her brother is decorator Tom Scheerer); from July 22, her paintings are on view at Mecox Gardens in East Hampton. 66 Newtown Ln., 631-329-9405.

LONGHOUSE LINEUP

On July 16, Jack Lenor Larsen’s celebrated LongHouse Reserve is fêting its 20th anniversary with a summer gala honoring Dale Chihuly and Barbara Slifka and featuring a performance by the New York City Ballet; on July 29, it kicks off an exhibition of American craftsman Wharton Esherick’s work with a cocktail party. Summer gala, from 6 p.m., tickets from $600; Esherick cocktail party, 5-7 p.m. 133 Hands Creek Rd., East Hampton; call 631-329-3568 or go to longhouse.org for more information.

WHAT’S OUT THERE

The Sara Nightingale Gallery in Water Mill unveils a group show of otherworldly landscapes, including surreal interpretations of natural environments that have been affected, for good or bad, by mankind. Left: Barry Underwood, Rodeo Beach, archival pigment print. July 29-August 15, 688 Montauk Hwy., 631-793-2256 or saranightingale.com.

VOLUPTUOUS PANIC

The Watermill Center’s 18th annual summer benefit includes cocktails, dinner, dancing and an auction of works by such artists as Mary Heilmann, David Salle and Andres Serrano. Proceeds help pay for the center’s programs for young and emerging artists. Below: Roman Ermakov, Emotions Inside Out. July 30, from 6 p.m., 39 Watermill Towd Rd., Water Mill. For tickets and more information, call 212-253-7484.

HC&G IDA AWARDS!

Join the fun at HC&G’s first ever Innovation in Design Awards presentation, honoring the best East End projects in four categories—architecture, interiors, kitchens and baths—chosen by an esteemed panel of judges including Steven Gambrel, Paul Goldberger, Celerie Kemble, Charlotte Moss and Vicente Wolf. A special Innovator Award will be presented to Jack Lenor Larsen of LongHouse Reserve. July 28, $75; cocktails start at 5:30 p.m., with awards ceremony to follow, Guild Hall, 158 Main St., East Hampton. For further information, call 203-227-1400 or go to cottages-gardens.com/idas.